

As it is celebrated the Workers' Day, CCS JV congratulates all its employees and salutes them for their commitment and dedication to one common goal.

The skills of each one of you is well recognized and is an integral part of healthy company culture. CCS JV acknowledge that all workers are the key point that determine a company's growth and productivity.

To all CCS JV workers, it is your dedication that contributed to our success. Thank you for inspiring us.

Happy Workers' Day

A worker meaning is to be passionate about your job, challenging yourself to reach the company objectives, and the most important part for us medical personnel, is teamwork!
 This quote represents me: "you were hired because you met expectations you will be promoted if you can exceed them". (Katia Navia)

Being a worker is being committed to the company and having its best interest at heart. Having the opportunity to meet and interact with colleagues from various cultural backgrounds and being privileged to learn from them. Most importantly being a supportive team player working together with my colleagues respectfully, efficiently & with clarity in a positive manner to reach a common goal. I have gained a sense of responsibility and self-worth. I am proud to be able to provide for my family and myself. I have been able to travel to many countries, met many wonderful people and seen a lot of places working and being a part of Mega Iconic Projects. Missing my family and not being with them every day is the negative impact that comes with this career path however I believe in order to give them the best in life and secure their future, sacrifice is required. (Lionel Thaver)

Worker is honorable, compassionate and asset that brings innovative ideas and improvements, not only for the company but for our own growth. As a worker I have developed self-esteem and confidence to be strong in any endeavors at work and in life. I became more focus to fulfill my duty to my family to give them good life and future. (Gener Abu)

Being a worker represents one of the highest levels of security in my life, and as a woman represent a daily challenge. I rely on my good work and performance as much as I rely on my self-development and long-term achievements, guaranteed the work-life balance, as most as possible. Being a worker provided me a great sense of responsibility as well as bringing in an income and, with that, I most certainly made a difference in society, purchasing goods and services as well as generate jobs. My daily work routine inspires my confidence and within all sectors of life, I feel more and more engaged in always bettering myself. (Andrea Cossa)

Being a worker means being able to contribute to the growth of my country and, in particular, my Family.

I feel important every day when I wake up to go to work and there is nothing more gratifying than knowing that the company depends on me to achieve its Goal.

LOVE, commitment, passion, honesty are some characteristics and values that define me as a professional in the finance area.

Being a working woman in Mozambique is a daily challenge because we need to constantly demonstrate our value and our ability to do a certain activity. I believe that regardless of gender, Woman or Man should go for what they want.

(Luisa Magibire)

Being a hard worker means more than being in the office 8 hours a day, it offers many benefits beyond the more obvious financial rewards. Having a job gives an individual a sense of purpose, a motivation to get out of bed in the morning with the aim of doing his best. Working as an IT the provision of quality work and service has a positive impact on the day-to-day work as user satisfaction is one of the best day-to-day gains.
(Danilo Come)

I consider work an essential condition for me and I believe for everyone, not only for financial support, but also for the dignity of life. Work is an important part of life and goes beyond making a living. It is about personal fulfillment, about feeling useful in society and finding meaning in one's days. For me, work goes far beyond the fact that, through it, we satisfy our basic needs. Work in itself is revealing of our humanity, since it allows us to have a transforming action on nature and on ourselves. Moreover, our inventive and creative capacity is externalized through the work we do. Certainly, for someone to continuously improve his performance, he needs to enjoy the function he is performing or stay motivated in the one he has been assigned to I enjoy the work I do and have been doing for more than 20 years, which has to do with interacting with people. Over time I have learned to be more measured and to value people. I am what I am today thanks to the work I have been doing along the way.
As the old saying goes, "Work Dignifies a Man".
